

WHAT IS INTERESTING WESTERLY

Interest in Poultry Show which Closed Saturday Night—
Providence Moose in a Wrangle—Liquor Raid by State Police, who Find Whiskey in Pawcatuck Homes and Club.

The annual show of the South Kingsland and Narragansett Poultry association, which closed Saturday evening, was the most successful that has been held by this association, the entries being larger and the quality being far above the average. A successful feature introduced this year was that no person was allowed in the show during the judging of the birds and nearly all the awards were placed before the formal opening of the show.

Among the breeds that attracted considerable attention was the Salmon Faverolles, belonging to William H. Hall of Providence, who through his efforts has recently had the breed admitted to the standard. The birds shown by him at this show were among the best in his flock and were fine specimens.

The large number of special prizes were awarded, including five sweepstakes prizes which were awarded as follows: First, $20 to Thomas L. Greene of Narragansett Pier, who secured a total of 60 1-3 points, which was the largest won by one exhibitor. The second $10 was captured by the Highland Farm, William A. Pollock proprietor, of Saunderstown, with 39 points. The Sea View Poultry Farm of East Greenwich took third of $5.

The fourth sweepstake was a large silver cup and was won by the Alton Poultry yards of Alton. The fifth prize was another silver cup and went to Charles H. Chappell of South Kingsland. Other cups were awarded as follows: For the best display of Rocks, Elmer E. Pollock, Wakefield; for the best display of Wyandottes, Peter S. Byrnes, Wickford; best display of Rhode Island Reds, Davis and Smith, Glocester; best display of Rhode Island Whites, Highland Farm, Saunderstown; best exhibit of Brahmas, Frank V. Road, Warren; best display of Leghorns, Sea View Poultry Farm; best exhibit of Minorcas, Sea View Poultry Farm; best exhibit in the Dutch class, Charles H. Chappell on Silver Spangled Hamburgs; best exhibit in the French class, Thomas L. Greene won on Spots.

For the best exhibit in Bantams, Roy V. Bell, Wakefield, on Black Cochins Bantams, the best of which was the second best bird in the show; best exhibit of water fowl, Highland Farm; best exhibit in the miscellaneous class, George E. Harvey, Wakefield, with Buff Orpingtons; for best pen in the show, John R. Wilcox, pen Black Orpingtons; best exhibit of guinea fowl, Thomas L. Greene; for the largest exhibit of any one breed, Highland Farm, with Rhode Island Whites; best exhibit of geese, Highland Farm.

The Rowland G. Hazard cup for the best pen of turkeys went to Oliver W. Greene of Kingston, who showed some extra fine specimens of bronze turkeys. Six hundred dollars was offered for the best Rhode Island pullet was won by Frank E. Eli, Wakefield; $10 in gold for the best cock was won by John R. Wilcox, with his first prize Black Orpington cock, which also won the $5 in gold for the best Orpington in the show; $2.50 in gold for the best Blue Andalusian hen was won by Mrs. Frank Clarke of Wakefield.

The Moose of Providence are on the rampage and divided into factions and the antagonisms are to be stirred out by legal manipulation. The case has reached the superior court. The troubles were first brought out before Judge John W. Sweeney of Westerly Saturday, with Attorney Albert B. Crafts of Westerly appearing for the plaintiff in the case. The hearing was on a motion to adjudge in contempt the respondents in the equity case of William H. Parley against the supreme lodge, Loyal Order of Moose of the World, and others. At the hour of adjournment Saturday the hearing was not completed and Judge Sweeney signified that the case would be taken up for further consideration on Saturday, Dec. 12.

MYSTIC
Thomas Brush Dies at Norwich—St. Patrick's Parish Fair Opens—Village Improvement League Has Balance in Treasury.
Thomas Brush, 60, died Saturday at the State hospital in Norwich where he had been taken several months ago. He was born in Mystic where he has always made his home.

Fair Opens With Big Attendance.
The first night of the fair given by the parish of St. Patrick's church was a big one. The attendance was far ahead of anything expected. The programme featured was: Selection, Greenwell's orchestra; violin duet, G. Victor Greenwell and his daughter, Miss Isabelle Greenwell; piano solo, Miss Emma Kippert; cornet solo, John Eickstein; solo dance, Mrs. Cyril Hoffmann. After the program dancing was enjoyed until 11:30 o'clock.

Cash Balance $432.
The annual report of the Mystic League for Village Improvement, which was to be presented, shows a cash balance on hand of $432.00, which is $57.72 less than a year ago. The slight discrepancy between the cash balance and the report is due to the fact that the report was not made up until after the cash balance had been paid.

Mr. Parley is the acting head of one faction of the Providence lodge and the court issued an ex parte restraining order in August enjoining the respondents from interfering with the transaction of its regular business and the carrying on of the work of the lodge.

Among the respondents that Parley would have adjudged in contempt of court are John J. Moriarty, supreme deputy dictator for Rhode Island, William Jennings Farrow, who allowed his name to appear on a demurrer and a plea in bar, and Arthur H. Jones, attorney general for the supreme lodge.

Pawcatuck, in the town of Stonington, went on the no-license list in the recent election, and it is evidently the intention to prosecute violators of the law. Saturday evening, armed with search warrants issued by Prosecuting Attorney George R. McKenna, State Policemen Jackson, Bridgman, Fellows, Penn and Wheeler, assisted by Patrolman Shelby Nicholas and Constable George H. Kenyon, raided the Pawcatuck Workingmen's club, the homes of Antonio Loretto in Stillman avenue, Michael Shea in Garden street and John Shea in Garden street. No liquor was found at Shea's or Loretto's, but a gallon of whiskey and a quart bottle of whiskey was found at Casey's.

Casey was placed under arrest, but he was summoned to appear in the Stonington town court Monday. A large lot of intoxicating liquor was seized at the Workingmen's club. When the police entered the clubhouse and the steward was temporarily absent and John Gurry happened to be in charge. Gurry was arrested and was released on a bond of $200 to appear for trial next Monday.

State Policemen Rudd and Bridgman raided the German club in Mystic and the Mystic club while their brother officers were busy in Pawcatuck. Between 30 and 40 cases of beer were seized at the German club and a small amount of liquor was found at the Mystic club.

Local Laconics.
Merton E. Stott, who is seriously ill with pneumonia, was reported as somewhat better today.
The marriage engagement has been announced of Miss Lillian Schert of New York to Benjamin Kerr, also of New York and a former resident of Westerly.

Miss Ruth Page, daughter of Charles Page of Hartford, a summer resident of Watch Hill, was killed when her automobile was struck by a car on Monday night. Miss Page was 21 years of age.

At the Baptist church Sunday the pastor, Rev. B. D. Remington preached at the morning service, at 10:45. A Thanksgiving service was held at 3 p. m., with special music and recitation by the members of the Sunday school. Subject, "A Land of Brotherhood."

A large crowd was at the moving picture show in Tip Top hall Friday evening, the feature reel of the evening was "Law Unto Herself," in two parts. During the evening Miss Emily Pierson of Cornwall gave a short address and moving picture views of the Woman's Suffrage parade in Hartford were shown.

George Barry of Norwich was a Colchester visitor Friday.

On account of the storm Thursday night the basketball team of the Lebanon Athletic club did not come over. A game was played by the Boys' club team and the town team. The lineup of the teams follows:

Town team: Storrs, H. Friedman, S. Friedman, C. Shea, H. Sherlock, McDonald II.
Boys' Club: Porter, C. Clifford, D. Denbar and White, G. Grobert, H. McDonald II.
